

FIMS Faculty PASTRIES & PEDAGOGY Drop-In Sessions

Question: who doesn't like caffeine – or talking about teaching?

Last year, FIMS launched Pastries & Pedagogy for our faculty – a series of casual, drop-in morning sessions designed to get us talking about teaching. It went so well that we're doing it again!

These informal gatherings will take place monthly on different days throughout the term to accommodate a variety of schedules, so hopefully, you can join us at some point. The goal is to offer a relaxed space for colleagues to connect over coffee and pastries while discussing teaching strategies, exploring classroom challenges, and sharing what's been working. Seeking advice? Unsure about an assessment? Excited by a new strategy you're trying out? Looking to exchange ideas? Or, maybe you just want to caffeinate while chatting about teaching? Please pop by!

Throughout the term, I'll update you with the drop-in session schedule.

Our first drop-in will take place on Thursday, October 1st, from 9 – 10am in the 4th floor lunchroom. Swing by and let us know how September went.

Questions? Contact Selma A. Purac at spurac2@uwo.ca