‘The Telenovela Archives’ is a research, documentation, and dissemination initiative. It is dedicated to exploring and preserving the history of telenovelas and other serialized drama formats in Latin America.

The Telenovela Archives: The History of Latin American TV Series (1950-1999) presents visual evidence of the work produced in that period: photographs, advertising materials, books, periodicals, films, and videos. It is an exploration of the stories that were created in Latin America, as well as an opportunity to understand their impact across the globe and throughout generations.
